

Re: Mary Brell, KEYS TO SUCCESS

April 2008

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to describe the high professional regard that I and many of my professional associates in Victoria (educators, educational administrators and business people) share for the work of Keys To Success, and Mary Brell in particular. In just over twelve months her work has had a significant impact in relief teacher effectiveness and professionalism for those who have participated, and she has now become a preferred provider for professional development planning for the Victorian Institute of Teaching and the Teacher Agency Network of Victoria.

Since first enticing Mary to participate in the extension of my own work in professional learning for relief teachers here in Victoria, I have become increasingly impressed by the frequency and depth of admiration and appreciation expressed by participants in her programs. Mary displays an amazing capacity to innately fine-tune her listening, observational and empathic awareness to ensure that the learning needs of the individuals and groups with whom she works in each particular session are fully satisfied, and that the value gained from her sessions always extends far beyond original expectations.

I commend Mary and Keys To Success highly to any leaders who wish to engage and align their teams of people in challenging, insightful, purposeful and constructive learning and development.

I remain available for further reference or clarification if required.

Sincerely yours

Daryl Brooks
